

Business Analyst

The Role

- A great entry-level role for someone who wants to learn all aspects of accounting and finance.
- Our finance team is a tight-knit group of highly talented professionals who juggle a wide variety of tasks including accounting, finance, taxes, compliance, clearing, public and private investments, real estate, event planning, and human resources. There is a strong emphasis on knowledge sharing and collaboration on projects.
- First-year analysts are given significant responsibility and need to be good at time management. We are looking for optimistic, career-oriented individuals who want to make the most of each opportunity. 'Whatever it takes' is the right attitude for this position. Expect a wide range of tasks over time. We are looking for someone who enjoys learning new things quickly.
- Work closely with top management. Build trust when handling sensitive information.
- Affiliated companies include Tradebot Properties, Tradebot Ventures, and Tradebot Holdings. These companies oversee $500M+ in real-estate, venture capital, and stock investments. The team also does accounting and tax work for these entities.
- Degree in Business, Accounting, Finance, or a related field is preferred.

Perks

- Entry-level starting base $65K+. Significant upside potential over time.
- Cash bonuses are paid each December. When we win, we all win.
- Reasonable work-life balance. 20 days paid time off + 9 holidays.
- Healthcare and 401(k) match.
- Free lunch.

About Tradebot

- Tradebot Systems does high-frequency stock trading.
- Dave Cummings owns Tradebot. He started the company out of a spare bedroom with a $10,000 investment in 1999. Over the years, the company has made well over $1 billion in trading profits.
- Small in headcount and large in impact, we make millions of trades per year. Our edge comes from our technology. We have one of the fastest systems in the industry. Big data makes us smarter. Markets keep changing. We keep improving our system.
- In hiring, we look for Aptitude, Character, and Enthusiasm. We seek associates who learn quickly and like to take on a variety of roles. We have a friendly, collaborative environment.
